On the day of the interview, I got up at 6:00 in the morning. I got to the interview place without having _____. I was the 24th interviewee(应聘者) and the 22nd was a short ordinary-looking girl. I greeted her by nodding my head. I asked her where she graduated. She told me in a low _____, "I graduated from a junior college (大专)", the only one without getting a bachelor's degree(学士学位) among the 50 interviewees. I didn't expect(预料) the interview would last so long. As I didn't have breakfast, my stomach started to ache. I had to sit by the table for a _____. Just at that time, the girl asked me _____ happened. I told her, "I didn't have breakfast this morning, so my stomachache comes to me." After a while, a worker came in and _____ me a bottle of milk and a piece of bread. It was certain that they were bought by the girl. I felt _____ all over my heart because I hadn't imagined she would be so nice to help me—her rival(竞争对手). Luckily, I got the job. The first day I went to work, I was _____ to see the girl there. She also got the job. Later I asked her why she got the job. She said _____ a smile. "That day when I bought you the _____, an interviewer went to the washing room with papers in hands. He asked me whether I could help him to copy those papers while he was in the washing room. I helped him. After I came back to him, he asked me why I took the food in hands. I told him the truth. Then I got the job." At
