1. 完型填空
Ever since I was a child, my mouth has caused me trouble. I'm not a bad person, but I have a hard time learning when to stop saying bad things to others.
My mum has told again and again, "Robert, your bad words are hurting me you continue to be rude like this, you will get into big trouble."
It has been a problem at school several times too. One day, in English class, I was working on my homework when I heard a classmate behind me. It was Nathaniel, who liked doing that as usual
I thought of what my mother had said to me and nicely, "Nathaniel, would you be quiet?"
However, Nathaniel kept saying something to the boy next to him loudly.I shouted, "Nathaniel, shut up!"
the next five minutes, we threw hurtful words at each other.
"At least I don't have an ugly lazy eye like you! "I cried out.
I knew this would make him and it would hurt his feelings and shut him up.
What I said filled him with anger. He ran to my and tried to catch me as he shouted, "That's it! That's it! " Surprised at his reaction, I sat back in my seat. I had seen Nathaniel act like this before. Later on, we were taken to the teachers' office. There, Mr Black, our English teacher, told us to the problem between us. Only then I finally found that hurt someone physically, he could finally get healthy again. But when I hurt someone with my, sometimes the pain never went away.
At the end of the discussion, Isaidto Nathaniel.
When I went back to my room, I began to how often what I said hurt others. I'll remember what my mum said to me and learn when to keep my closed.
