1. 短文填空

根据短文内容和所给中文提示,写出空白处各单词的正确形式,每空限填一词。

Many people go to Utah because they love hiking in Bryce Canyon National Park. They enjoy 【1】 (岩石) climbing, camping and so on. However, some people go to Utah for a very 【2】 (不同的) experience.

The Boulder Outdoor Survival(生存) School(BOSS) in Utah is the world's oldest survival school. It teaches people how stay alive without tents, or even backpacks. In Bryce Canyon, the days are very 【3】 (热的) and the nights are very cold. Not everyone wants to go and experience life without modern 【4】 (发明) like smart phones and e-books. Students at BOSS quickly learn that it is important to work hard and 【5】 (尝试) new things if they want to complete the training.

In survival camps at BOSS students don't just practise camping, hiking or 【6】 (骑) horses. They go into the wild for days or weeks. They learn how to find 【7】 (新鲜的) water for drinking. They also learn how to make a fire, use a 【8】 (小刀) and find food to eat. Nature can often give them 【9】 (每件事) they need so survive.

After these people go back to the real world, they may never use these skills again. Even if they don't, at 【10】 (至少) they will always know that they can live without computers, electricity, and smart phones—even if it is only for a few days!

2. 阅读理解

One night, four naughty(顽皮的) boy students stayed out of school having a late party at a night club and having a great time. They were partying so happily that they forgot they were going to take an exam the next day.

The next morning, they got up too late to take their exam. In order not to be punished, they thought of a plan which they believed was perfect. They made their clothes dirty and went to the teacher's office.

“Mr. Johnson, we went to a friend's house last night in another town. On the way back, our car got a flat tire(爆胎), so we had to push the car all the way back to school. That's why we didn't make it for the exam.”

The teacher listened to their story, and told them in a kind voice, “It doesn't matter. I am going to give you another chance to take the test three days later.” The four students thanked him and left happily.

The test day arrived in the end. The teacher asked them, “I am going to put each one of you in a different room for the test. Are you OK with that?”

“OK”, the students were fine with that because they had all studied hard. Then they got the test paper. It had only two questions.
