

2021-2022年高二下期开学考试英语考题（上海市复旦附中）

1. 单项选择

A great variety of guidance for _____ visitors — ideas for what to do in off-peak season, for example, or outside of the city center — can have the effect of diverting them from already saturated landmarks, or discouraging short break away in the first place.

A.positive B.influential C.prospective D.visiting

2. 单项选择

Local governments can foster this sustainable activity by giving _____ to responsible operators, and even high-paying consumers.

A.preference B.substitute C.alternative D.selection

3. 单项选择

Un-learning is more difficult than learning because we become _____ to thinking or feeling in certain ways over time.

A.mutual B.habituated C.habitual D.verbal

4. 单项选择

I suspect _____ Facebook has done to invade our privacy is only the beginning, _____ is why I am considering cancelling my account.

A.that, which B.that whatever, which C.that what, that D./, that

5. 单项选择

If there are any such adjustments it would suggest that investors had interpreted the information in a biased fashion and hence in a(n) _____ manner.

A.efficient B.unefficient C.non-efficient D.inefficient

6. 单项选择

A new study _____ the marmoset's reputation for admirable community values. Researchers report that these caregivers share their food more generously with little ones in private than when they are surrounded by the watchful eyes of other community members.

A.shines B.damages C.affects D.protects

7. 单项选择

The city announced severe measures _____ to hold e-bike riders and restaurants that employ the riders responsible.

A.meaning B.to be meant C.meant D.be meant

8. 单项选择

Climate change is projected to have far-reaching _____ — including sea level rise flooding cities and shifting weather patterns causing long-term declines in agricultural production.

A.contributions B.confusions C.consequences D.feedbacks

9. 单项选择

The usual response to the annual flu is not enough to fight against the risks we currently face, _____