

1.

Where to enjoy a picture-perfect white Christmas?

Quebec City, Canada

When the narrow streets of Quebec City are covered in snow, it feels like you've wandered into a beautiful Victorian Christmas card which has come to life. Enjoy the friendliness of this charming Canadian city with joyous outdoor concerts, holiday markets and Quebec Adabra — an evening festival of music, lights, animation (动画) and architectural projections held city-wide.

London, England

The capital is bursting with holiday cheer. Bright Christmas lights brighten up Oxford Street, Covent Garden and Carnaby Street. Skating people can go for a seasonal spin in Somerset House, Hyde park, Canary Wharf and the Tower of London. Love holiday music? St. Martin-Fields hosts an inspiring line-up of Christmas concerts while London's most famous Christmas tree entertains visitors in Trafalgar Square.

Prague, Czech Republic

Prague's beautiful architecture provides a dramatic setting for its Christmas activities. At the foot of the Church of Our Lady before Tyn, the Old Town Christmas market sells Christmas gifts and treats to the thousands of shoppers who visit it each December. Carol (圣诞颂歌) singers perform seasonal favourites while a well-decorated Christmas tree adds to the joyous atmosphere.

Rovaniemi, Finland

For a storybook Christmas, Rovaniemi in Finland is hard to beat. Lapland's capital becomes a winter wonderland. The area is lit by the impressive northern lights, and they can be witnessed around the city from mid-August to early April. This magical place is also the official home of Santa Claus himself and visitors of all ages can meet everything about Christmas at Santa Claus Village right at the Arctic Circle.

1. Why does the author mention the Victorian Christmas card?

- A. To indicate Quebec City is beautiful.
- B. To show it always snows at Christmas.
- C. To tell us Christmas is a lively holiday.
- D. To suggest that we buy Christmas cards.

2. Where can you skate in London at Christmas?

- A. In Oxford Street.
- B. In Covent Garden.
- C. In Canary Wharf.
- D. In Trafalgar Square.

3. What makes a Christmas in Prague more attractive?

- A. The unique gifts offered to tourists.