

1.

Teens Spring Events at San Francisco Public Library

GREAT TEEN BOOK SWAP

Sunday, March 19, 2017-2:30 pm to 5:30 pm

FREE hook! Just leave us a review.

Here's how it works: Every Thursday, the librarian will bring out several books and allow teens the chance to look through them for one that you'd like to keep. You will, in turn, swap us a review of the book by the end of the month.

For ages 12-18.

For more information, contact Dorcas at dorcas.wong@sfppl.org.

THE MIX BOOK CLUB!

Sunday, March 19, 2017-4:00 pm to 5:00 pm

Teens aged 13-18 are welcome to The Mix at SFPL Book Club! We read a different book each month that you help choose. This month we're reading The Sun is Also A Star, by Nicola Yoon. New members and drop-ins are always welcome!

For more information, please e-mail catherine.cormier@sfppl.org or call (415) 557-4404.

THE PORTRAIT OF A LADY BY HENRY JAMES

Sunday, March 19, 2017-6:30 pm to 8:30 pm

Please join Chinatown's World Literature Book Club for an enjoyable discussion of The Portrait of a Lady by Henry James. This famous novel follows the young, free-spirited heiress, Isabel Archer, as she travels from New York to Europe.

CARTOONING & GRAPHIC NOVEL WORKSHOP

Saturday, March 25, 2017-2:00 pm to 4:00 pm

Join teaching artist and cartoonist Aaron Southerland for a cartooning and graphic novel workshop. Students will learn to create their very own cartoon and comic characters through advanced drawing techniques.

This is a Reading, Writing & Poetry program from SFPL. We love reading/sharing/creating words.

21. What will teens have to do at GREAT TEEN BOOK SWAP?

- A. Exchange a book of their own. B. Look through some books they keep.
C. Share a review of the book they choose. D. Contact Dorcas at dorcas.wong@sfppl.org.

22. What can we infer about THE MIX BOOK CLUB?

- A. This event takes place 12 times a year. B. Only those who book seats are welcome.
C. Writers read their books to participants. D. Nicola Yoon, a writer, will help choose books.

23. What will happen at Chinatown's World Literature Book Club?

- A. Drawing contests. B. Writing. C. Character creating. D. Discussion.

24. What is mentioned in each event?

- A. Teens' ages. B. Names of the books to be read. C. Book reviews. D. Opening and closing hours.

2.

Enjoying a musical performance no longer requires a costly ticket or a trip to a theater. These days, musicians are performing in private homes, at haircutting shops, at airports...even on ferry boats.

Musicians like house concerts. At music clubs, they often have to perform over loud conversation or deal with people who have had too much alcohol. People at house concerts are more focused on listening to the music.

Just a few hours before the Bombadils started singing at the O' Hair Salon, Lindsay was cutting hair and Tamera was doing facials. Then, they moved chairs and microphones to create a small performance space. The Bombadils made music in the front part of the hair salon, near the hair dryers and make-up table.

"This is our first show at a hair salon," Sarah Frank of the Bombadils told concertgoers at last week's performance. Frank said she and band members Luke Fraser and Kaitlyn Raitz had a great time "interacting" with the audience.

Concerts in people's homes, or small businesses such as O' Hair's, are becoming more popular, musicians say. "There is a more relaxed atmosphere," said Domenic Cicala, a musician who opened up his O' Hair Salon to concerts. "People really get to know the artists."

At house concerts, people get time before and after concerts to meet the performers. Often, the hosts or guests will provide food and drink.